Dear Baha:

Thank you for your captivating “Help for Information Overload” presentation to our members on January 21, 2003. The topic was relevant to virtually all attendees and the feedback received from attendees was most positive. In particular, our members appreciated the tips and tools you provided that they could put in place immediately to address the Information Overload pressure we all feel.

A few select comments received:

- Excellent - motivated me to take action personally and pass on to my team - Thanks!
- Fantastic - I'm organized but I still learned a lot.
- Great perspective and practical tips. Speaker very engaging.
- Organized well, good presentation, engaging speaker.

I would not hesitate to recommend you for presentations to companies or professional organizations such as ourselves. Your professional presentation motivated our members to take action after the meeting which is an important measure of a successful development meeting.

Sincerely,

Kirk Merrett
